

TAKING A NETWORK APPROACH

Network Activities

Great production starts here. Let's talk soil.

"Everything starts in the soil. Whether it's in your dairy barn or your cash crops, everything comes from the land to begin with. So, if you look after the land, you look after your bottom line."

Thomas Farrell
RG&G Farms
Kincardine, Ontario

Your best investment. Let's talk soil.

"Soil has the better ROI. It isn't a piece of equipment you just wear out and get a new one eventually. We can't do that to the soil."

Henry Denotter
Kingsville, Ontario

No one's selling you anything. Let's talk soil.

"Everyone's willing to share and no one is trying to sell a technique or a technology. I don't want to be sold to all the time, I want to learn. The network is about a free exchange of ideas so we all do better."

Terry Clark
Barrie, Ontario

Building for the future. Let's talk soil.

Mike & Lindsay Groot
Wholesome Pastures,
Georgetown, Ontario

A new perspective. Let's talk soil.

"There really isn't one right way to build soil, and I appreciate all the perspectives in the Soil Network that help me to see our own operation differently."

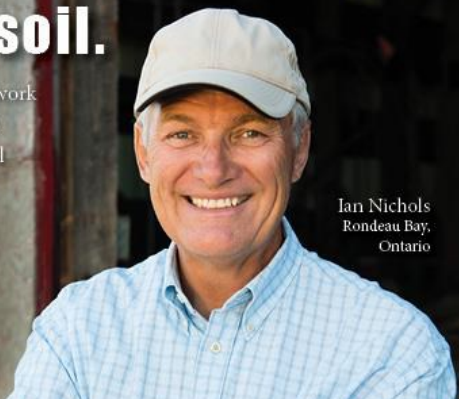

Brett Israel
@israel_brett
3GEN Organics,
Drayton, ON

Fast-track the learning. Let's talk soil.

"I joined the Ontario Soil Network to get ideas from farmers who have more experience with soil health than I do."

Ian Nichols
Rondeau Bay,
Ontario

The heart of agriculture. Let's talk soil.

"Soil is the heart of farming and it always bothered me to see it moving on these hills. We were looking to solve that problem and cover crops with reduced tillage has done that. In just five years, we've seen a drastic improvement."

Adam Reddy
Aktion Powers, Inc.,
Leicester, Ontario

Giving back. Let's talk soil.

"Supporting soil health is like supporting my community. It benefits me much more than the pocketbook, it is seeing a landscape we're proud to be from. We're investing in a system that gives back to us."

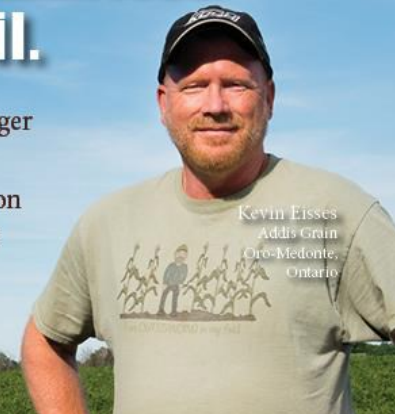

Gerrit Herrema
Herrelea Farms,
Uxbridge, Ontario

More to gain than lose. Let's talk soil.

"We're part of something bigger than ourselves. Keeping soil healthy for the next generation means we've got to work and learn together."

Kevin Eisses
Addis Grain
Oro-Medonte,
Ontario

Thank you

ontariosoil.net

admin@ontariosoil.net

@SoilNetwork

